A lush, multi-level garden with a central lawn, a winding stone path, and various colorful flower beds and hedges. The garden is filled with a variety of plants, including red and white flowers, green hedges, and large green leaves in the foreground. The overall scene is vibrant and well-maintained.

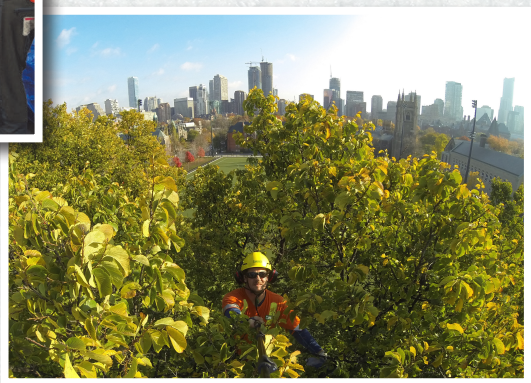

Green spaces in the sky have become an invaluable part of our urban landscape. A dynamic rooftop garden offers an escape into the natural environment, and greatly improves the experience and value of the property.

PLANTING

Natural cycles often require planting to be renewed in the landscape. Removal of trees and shrubs in terrace gardens requires specialized equipment and techniques. Planting new trees on terraces is particularly technical work and good species choice is critical. Our arborists can ensure all the facets of this cycle are completed professionally.

PRUNING

Woody plants require ongoing pruning as they grow and change. Our arborists have the tools and expertise to fine prune everything from your ornamental shrubs to large shade trees. Our teams are well equipped and experienced in terrace garden work. Our pruning strategies are informed and carefully executed, delivering immediate result and fostering long-term goals within the space.

SOIL CARE

Rooftop gardens have very specific soil conditions. Much like the soil in a pot, resources quickly become limited. Challenges often arise from depleted nutrients, poor water drainage, compacted soil, biologically inactive soil, and pH imbalances. A soil care program addresses these issues through soil analysis, soil renovation and ongoing treatment and monitoring.

FEEDING

Trees and woody plants can grow and thrive in the rooftop setting, provided they are given the resources they need. Limited soil volumes must be regularly supplemented. Our pressurized liquid feeding system adds the critical fertilizers and soil conditioners that are so important for sustainable, healthy growth.
